(please see the attached map for directions)

Saturday, March 14, 2009

10 am to noon

Presented by sustainability experts and Congresswoman Giffords' staff:

“Solar Power for the Home: Getting Started:” a presentation on the basics of residential solar electric and hot water equipment, installation procedures, and financial incentives, as well as home energy conservation measures. A member of Congresswoman Giffords' staff will lead the discussion. Solar installer Daniel Snyder of Westwind Solar will be on hand to assist with technical questions.

Sustainability Tour of Tohono Chul Park: small group tours will focus on the many sustainability features located on the grounds of the park, including photovoltaics, water harvesting, composting, xeriscaping, and more. Each sustainability station will be staffed by experts to answer questions and provide demonstrations.

SPACE IS LIMITED FOR THIS PRESENTATION

PLEASE RSVP by Wednesday, March 11
